

Crescent Moon and Dhikr Star Scavenger Hunt

A fun Ramadan game for the whole family to do! The only materials you need are printing out these papers (cardstock preferred) and cutting the dhikr stars beforehand (as a parent) and hiding them around the house. The Crescent moons need to be cut out and given to the children after the hiding of the stars is done!

Rules:

1. For phase one: Have each child take a crescent moon, write his/her name on it, and then decorate it however they like.
2. Hole-punch the blue circles out. Tie a string through and let a few inches of string dangle downwards.
(enough for multiple stars)
3. Have the kids search for the dhikr stars (please place on elevated area as it is dhikr)
4. Each child, once they find the star, tapes it to their string and has to say the dhikr on it.
5. Once all the 30 stars have been found- the winner has the most stars!
6. Hang all the moon and star dhikr mobiles up to remind the family of remembering Allah.
7. Optional: post a picture and TAG us on facebook and instagram: @muslimmommyblog
